Pumpkin, Squash Winners Listed

Ralph Dunkle, Frank Coon and George Coon have earned the distinction of exhibiting the largest pumpkin, squash and caushaw at the 58th Annual Pumpkin Show.

Although all the winning specimens are smaller than those displayed last year, the quality has been considered excellent. Judging was conducted yesterday afternoon at the eye-catching showplace on W. Main St., under the direction of Prof. Kenneth Albans of Ohio State University.

Dunkle exhibited the largest pumpkin, a beauty weighing in at 83 pounds. Frank Coon showed the largest squash, a 192-pound whopper. Brother George's largest caushaw tipped the scales at 70 pounds.

A late summer drought has been attributed as a primary reason why specimens weighed in less this year. Last year's largest pumpkin hit 135½ pounds.

Family Team Winners in Baking Test

A mother-daughter team emerged as winners of today's Bake-A-Pumpkin-Pie contest.

Mrs. Russell Skaggs, 130 Dunmore Road, was named first prize winner in the adult division for the third day of competition. Her daughter, Mary Lou, won the teen-age division.

Second in the adult division was John Happenny, 132 Park St. He is the first male to be placed this year in the competition. Third place went to Mrs. Raymond Hedges, Laureville.

In the teen age division, second place went to Sally Triante, Lockbourne while Bonnie Peters of Ashville won third.

AWARDS of $15, first; $10, second; $5, third are presented daily.

Tomorrow Mrs. David Goldschmidt, Mrs. Bernadette Bass and Mrs. Skaggs will compete for the Bake-Off.

Dawn Morrison, Elaine Goldschmidt and Mary Lou Skaggs will participate in the junior division. In both divisions the grand prize winners will receive $50, first; $25, second; $10, third.

Assisting Mrs. Dorothy Shadley with the daily contest is Mrs. John Himrod.

Each night immediately following the parade, the prize winning pies and all entries are auctioned off by Willson Leist. Mrs. Leist and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Temple assist with the auction.

Pumpkin Pageantry Holds Its Mystic Grip on City

Pumpkin Daze

Perhaps Pickaway County's finest crop is its baby crop. At the parade yesterday the love-liest children were in evidence — not scores but hundreds!

A few youngsters slept through the whole business of parading. But most of them thoroughly enjoyed a ride in the crisp autumn air.

Mrs. Ernest Enoch Jr. had her troubles. The front wheels of the baby cart wouldn't go round. So she had to tilt the cart on its back wheels.

There was another baby carriage crisis on E. Franklin St. The parade was held up while a mechanic on the side lines got the carriage rolling.

Meg Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Everett, was stuck in the arm with a pin. Her mother had just finished a new dress for her to wear in the parade. When Meg was almost ready she felt a pin prick and let her mother know in no uncertain terms that something was wrong. Mrs. Everett discovered she had not finished the cuff on one sleeve. It was still pinned. But the dress was ready in time for the parade and its wearer in fine spirits.

We saw our first lady pipe smoker at Pumpkin Show last night. Right good looking gal, too. Her escort seemed to be taking everything for granted. Could have been her husband!

Nothing finer than starting the morning off with pancakes and sausage at the corner booth at Court and Main. Tom Bennett was definitely pleased at the compliments he received on his pancake frying ability. He did suggest that nobody tell his wife Jerry what a good cook he is.

The Courthouse contingent (the gals) were breakfasting at the pancake booth. One of them announced she was going to have pancakes for lunch, too.

Clarabelle Spangler had brought silver forks for eating the pancakes. The plastic forks were a tiny bit hard to manipulate. The men in charge aren't about to switch, however. No extra fork washing for them, thank you!

Highest Funeral Honors Await Ex-President Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert Clark Hoover returns in death today to receive highest funeral honors in a capital where he served as 31st president.

President Johnson leads the country in the tributes to a man he has called "a wise American — a humanitarian citizen of all mankind."

Johnson arranged to meet the funeral train as it arrived from New York in early afternoon, and escort the caisson to the great rotunda of the Capitol.

Song Group's Manager Is Crash Victim

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — The manager of a group of singers and musicians on tour was killed in a traffic accident south of here on Ohio 31 today. Five musicians and singers were injured, one critically.

Killed in the accident was Sonley Carl Roush, 27, of Midland, Tex., driver of the automobile which collided head-on with a tractor-trailer truck. The truck driver, Robert Thomas Satterfield, 35, of Greensboro, N.C., was not hurt.

Two singers were hurt, one critically. They are Bobby Wood, 23, of Memphis, Tenn. who suffered critical head injuries and was taken to Lima Memorial Hospital, and J. Frank Wilson, 22, of San Antonio, Tex., who recently recorded a top song hit called "Last Kiss."

The other musicians in the car, Jerome Graham, 21, of Flint, Mich., and Gene Crowle, 17, of San Antonio, Tex., were released from the hospital after treatment.

A-Bomb Every Month Seen China Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph E. Lapp, a nuclear scientist, estimated today the Red Chinese have the capacity to produce "a nuclear bomb a month" and he expects another test shortly.

Dr. Lapp based his conclusions on the Atomic Energy Commission's announcement that Red China's first test device apparently employed uranium-235.

The Church must "read aright the signs of the times," the bishops said. More sociological and technological changes have come in a lifetime "than in all previous history," they said.

Tiny Tots Have Great Day At Pumpkin Show Parade

HAPPY TOTS AND PROUD MAMAS — Here is a small portion of the 268 entries in yesterday's Baby Parade. Most of the youngsters seemed to be enjoying all the attention they were getting. A host of beaming mothers were present. Even a few fathers ventured to walk the route. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

The Baby Parade was one of the highlights of the Pumpkin Show yesterday afternoon. Tiny tots completely dominated the scene.

Show Moves Into Third Exciting Day

A welcome breakthrough by old man sun at about 10:30 a.m. was all the incentive needed to speed the Circleville Pumpkin Show into its third merry day.

Temperature remained on the cool side, but the sudden thrust of cheerful sunshine was enough to send the show spirit soaring for tonight. And the weather outlook for Saturday bears good tidings.

The prediction for Saturday calls for a warming trend, although temperature will average three to five degrees below normal. No precipitation is expected until late tomorrow or early Sunday.

Taking advantage of these favorable weather conditions will be a capacity number of spectators, especially when things really get going tonight. Viewers already were streaming into town this morning, with the majority of them planning to spend the entire day.

YESTERDAY's tempo was off to a quick start with the annual Baby Parade in the afternoon and the popular Parade of Bands in the evening. Plenty of spectators were on hand for both.

The crowd swelled as the day wore on. By dusk streets were filled in anticipation of the com-

Ohio Solon Urges End to U.S. Draft

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—In a campaign speech prepared for television audiences, Republican Rep. Homer E. (Pete) Abele of the 10th Ohio district has pledged to work for the early end of the present Selective Service system.

Abele called the present system "old-fashioned, outmoded, and unjust." He was one of only three members of the U. S. House who voted against extension of the present system.

In his prepared speech, Abele said that "under the present system, over half of our young men who reach the age of 26 have not served in the armed services. The draft favors the son of the rich man over the poor man's son."

ing parade.
Enjoying festivities for the second straight night was Maestro Ted Lewis. He viewed the parade from atop the information booth at Court & Main.
Last night's crowd was estimated to be at least 45,000 or more and similar in size of that of Wednesday night. Some local guessers list the figure closer to 65,000.
Today's program was off and running with the Pet Parade at 2 p. m. The Merchants - Industrial Parade was to get under way at 8.
Making its initial appearance of the show at 6:30 will be the U. S. Army Field Band. This outstanding contingent of musicians will perform at the W. Main St. platform.
***
ALSO on today's docket are numerous high school band concerts, variety shows, jamborees and a pumpkin pie auction.
The big show will head into its finale tomorrow. Highlights will be another performance by the Army Field Band, the Queen of Queens Parade at 8 p. m. and several interesting contests.

Car Entry Cases Plague City Police

Handling huge crowds and mountains of traffic are not the only tasks confronting city police during Pumpkin Show.
The local force last night was swamped with a rush of complaints concerning parked cars and the effect of articles. Officers said at least six such cases were reported.
Here are the incidents listed on today's blotter:
Mary Webb, Route 1, Jeffersonville; top of car slashed, small camera missing.
Rodney Amerline, Route 1, South Bloomingville; four hub caps and two spotlights taken from car parked near Court-house.
Ted Mogan, 121 Watt St.; door glass broken on parked auto.
Mrs. G. Ninde Lawson, Knollwood Village; transistor radio taken from car parked at rear of Gas Co. office.
Ralph Jones, N. Pickaway St.; entry attempt on parked car.
Robert Vince, 220 Plum St.; radio taken from car parked on N. Pickaway St.

as souvenirs. Cutest things First EUB church ladies hand-crafted these pretty mugs from ceramics. They are hand painted too, and have a Circleville Seal on the bottom. This group has sort of bazaar of hand-made things.
Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Kell-eher and Mrs. Birdie Carey, Duneland Beach, Michigan City, Ind., were in Circleville yesterday trying to locate descendants of their mother, Marie Richards Holleran, who was once a resident here. They were also enjoying the Pumpkin Show and hope to get back next year.

No one enjoys the Pumpkin Show more than Ted Lewis. He viewed last night's big Parade of Bands from atop the information booth at Court and Main Sts.

Circleville's most famous son displayed particular enthusiasm whenever a band passed. His crowning moment came when the musical unit from Allensville stopped in front of the booth to salute Ted with "Me and My Shadow", the song routine made famous by this noted showman. The high school bandmen then capped their salute with "Is Everybody Happy?" Ted certainly was.

Adding glitter and outstanding color to last night's parade were units from the Aladdin Temple contingent. Included were the Temple's Drum and Bugle Corps, the Piccadors, the huge mobile electric Crescent and the spectacular Firetruck. These units are annual visitors at the Pumpkin Show.

Leading parades is no easy task. Just ask city police, sheriff's deputies and state patrolmen who have the big job of clearing a path. At times the chore almost seems impossible when lead units confront the mass of spectators that gathers at Court and Main about 8 p. m.

Food booths report a zooming business. All agree cool temperatures tend to foster big appetites.
Ted Lewis is scheduled to take a slight respite from the Pumpkin Show tonight to watch the Circleville High School football game with Hillsboro. Rumor has it that he will also take his clarinet to the tilt. Possibly Circleville's favorite musician will join with the band for half-time entertainment.

For 11 years the Circleville Lions Club has had a booth on West Main St. during the Pumpkin Show. The menu is limited to fish, fried oysters and wiener sandwiches.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Priest, St. Louis, Mo., drove over 500 miles yesterday to "come home for the Pumpkin Show." Mrs. Priest, the former Margaret Good, is the daughter of Mrs. R. D. Good, 411 E. Franklin St. Her husband is an officer with the St. Louis Police Department.

One of the biggest attractions of the Pumpkin Show seems to be the "music box" on N. Court St. Valued at more than $50,000, the Gooding Amusement Company's free attraction always has a huge crowd of spectators gathered around it. Various selections are played throughout the day and animated figures catch the eye of young and old alike. Distinct instrumental sounds include organ, cymbals, bells, xylophone, and stringed instruments.

Another must for Pumpkin Show visitors today and tomorrow will be performances of the U. S. Army Field Band. Concerts will be given at 6:30 p. m. both today and tomorrow.

A frequent question heard on the midway is "What happened to Frank's Footlog Hot Dog Stand that has appeared on the northeast corner of Court and Main for so many years?" The familiar concession is missed by many.

Another question is "Who is the big clown that has marched in both evening parades that seems to know everybody?" We asked him Wednesday night and he replied "The shadow knows!"

Pumpkin Show seems to be a real mecca for office seekers. Among prominent candidates scheduled for visits today are Robert Taft Jr. and the Sixth District's William H. Harsha.

Staff members also administered emergency aid to six other persons who were treated and released.
Glenn Glispie, 3, Williamsport, swallowed an undetermined amount of rat poison.
Guy Easter, 35, Route 1, Chillicothe, injured his left hand while working on a farm.
Mary Anne Greenlee, 42, W. Main St., suffered a laceration to her right hand when a plate fell from a shelf at Boyer's Restaurant.
Alfred Speakman, Route 1, Kingston, lacerated the left side of his head on machinery at Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc.

The ceremonial slauting by fire developed after the introduction of common to warfare. A victor would demand a cannon salute, possibly to make sure the defeated enemy's guns were empty.

White House Security

Is Lax, Goldwater Claims

GOP Candidate Scoffs Report

Security Leaks Claimed Possible

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller challenged today the Federal Bureau of Investigation report that its inquiry turned up nothing to show that Walter Jenkins had compromised the security interests of the United States.

"No man can say today that there has been a leak or there was not," the Republican vice presidential nominee told a breakfast rally here.

"What have they got except Jenkins' statement?" he told a reporter later.

Miller declared that Jenkins had access to highly secret information "and we find out that he was not even cleared for security as were many others even still and now in and around the White House."

When a reporter asked Miller whether he was directly challenging the validity of the FBI report, issued Thursday, Miller replied that he was.

The FBI stated flatly that it had found no evidence that President Johnson's top aide for 25 years compromised the security or interests of the nation in any manner.

Jenkins resigned at Johnson's request on Oct. 14 after it became public knowledge that the special presidential assistant had been arrested at the YMCA here on morals charges in 1959 and again last Oct. 7.

In reporting to Johnson Thursday night on the investigation he had ordered, the FBI said:

It found that Jenkins "had limited association with some individuals who are alleged to be, or who admittedly are, sex deviates" but there is not information reported to indicate he "ever had improper acts with them."

The report which FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover sent to Johnson and acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said Jenkins had been cleared on security checks in 1956, 1957 and 1958.

The FBI said its investigation covered "the full scope of Mr. Jenkins' life, from his early years in Texas to the present time," and that more than 500 persons, including current and former neighbors, business associates, social acquaintances and school classmates were interviewed.

White House Security Is Lax, Goldwater Claims

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater today said the Walter W. Jenkins affair showed there was "lax security" in the White House. He coupled that with a charge that the State Department has cleared 150 people to handle U.S. secrets without full security investigations.

"The issue of national security and national integrity now has become firmly embedded in this election campaign," the Republican presidential nominee declared as — for the first time — he used the Jenkins case in a campaign speech.

For the moment, the Goldwater camp had no comment on the newly released FBI report, issued on Johnson's orders, which said investigators found no information to indicate the former presidential aide compromised U.S. security.

Jenkins, arrested twice on morals charges, resigned at Johnson's request eight days ago after his record was revealed.

Goldwater talked about the Jenkins matter in a speech on a whistle-stop campaign tour this morning from Los Angeles to San Diego.

The text, demanding that the Jenkins report be issued before the election, was handed to newsmen before the FBI report was released. But Paul F. Wagner, Goldwater's press secretary, said the Arizona senator stood by it, even though "we have not seen the (FBI) report."

Goldwater said Republicans did not create the issue of security and integrity.

"The man who now occupies the White House raised this issue all by himself — by lowering the standards of the highest office of this land," Goldwater said.

In the speech, he demanded creation of a bipartisan watchdog panel to oversee release of FBI reports on the Jenkins case and on a contract kickback.

Court Candidate Set For Pumpkin Show

Warren Erhardt, a candidate for the Ohio Supreme Court, is scheduled to put in his appearance at the Pumpkin Show, it was announced today by William Stout, chairman of the Pickaway County Democratic Executive Committee.

Man Bound To Jury in Shooting Case

Samuel Carroll, 19, the Monroe Twp. man who was charged with manslaughter in the accidental slaying of his half-brother George E. Nichols Jr., 16, Sunday, has been bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury.

In Circleville Municipal Court yesterday, Carroll entered a plea of innocent to the charges that were filed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb ruled there was sufficient evidence to warrant a grand jury hearing in the incident. He set bond at $1,500.

According to the Sheriff's report of the slaying, Carroll was twirling a loaded shotgun on his finger. He stopped it, and it discharged while pointing directly at his brother's throat.

Carroll said he did not realize the gun was loaded.

Cleric Says Atheism Is On Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Lutheran clergyman says that it is fruitless today to "proclaim God's forgiving grace to the growing numbers of people who don't even believe he exists."

Addressing the second session of the American Lutheran Church Convention Thursday, Dr. Paul C. Empe of New York said:

"We must ask ourselves how the gospel can be preached persuasively in a society which rejects revelation as authoritative."

Dr. Empe is executive director of the National Lutheran Council.

He told the 1,000 delegates to the convention that Christianity is "neither a cult of comfortable convictions nor conformity to a conventional code of conduct."

"Unless religion provides relevant and constructive insights in the search for the answers to life's problems, it is false."

Eisenhower to Saigon?

Dwight Eisenhower, running for president in 1952, apparently impressed a number of voters with his pledge to go to Korea.

Today the United States is again involved in a frustrating conflict in Southeast Asia, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, seeking to be the first Republican president since Eisenhower, is trying a variation of Ike's 1952 gambit.

If elected, says Goldwater, he will ask Eisenhower to go to Viet Nam and report back to him on the Southeast Asian situation.

Perhaps Eisenhower — who has not said he would go — wonders what he could learn in South Viet Nam that is not already known to U. S. officials who have been following the war there, and some of whom have made the trip again and again.

Despite this, Goldwater's move must be considered a politically astute one. Many Americans are not satisfied that they know the truth about Viet Nam. They are not convinced that the administration has been completely honest in reporting the extent of U. S. involvement in Southeast Asia, or the prospects for defeating the communists or at least achieving an honorable peace.

From this standpoint, such a trip — if Goldwater is elected and Eisenhower agrees — could be valuable. The former president might not find anything new to say about Viet Nam, but his report would reassure the people.

Remarks To Irk a Housewife

NEW YORK (AP) — Husbandly remarks that make a wife wonder whether it's all worth while:

"Yeah, it's not bad, but I still can remember how good it tasted when my mother cooked this dish."

"Oh, hon, I forgot to tell you — my boss and his wife are coming to dinner tonight. But you don't have to bother to fix up anything special."

"I stopped off for just a couple with the boys. If I miss the 6:22 train, be sure and meet the 7:19. In any case I'll catch the 8:05 at the very latest."

"What do wives do all day anyway — just lie on the sofa and think up abuse to heap on their hard-working husbands when they get home?"

"We got a new girl in the stenographic pool at the office. And boy, is she a looker! But what I like about her is that she's smart. When I give her a letter, she seems to know what I want to say even before I say it."

"Is this a home — or a tent full of Indians? Tell those kids to be quiet."

"What in heaven's name do you need a cleaning woman for. Don't we own a mop?"

"I don't know what happens to all the money I give you. You must put a match to it."

"You go to the door, honey, I'm tired."

"If you think I'm going to take you out anywhere tonight, honey, you've got another thing coming."

"Tell your mother to come and stay as long as she wants to — as long as she brings along enough to pay part of the rent and her share of the board."

"I like you in that new dress."

What do you mean, you've had it for five years? I never noticed it before."

"For pete's sake, what do we need with all that junk? We're just going on a vacation trip — not settling the Far West."

"What do you mean, do I love you? What do you think I married you for?"

"Now, let's get one thing clear, once and for all. Who do you think rules this roost?"

"What do you want for Christmas — a new ironing board or a new lawnmower?"

"Why does it take you so long to get ready? We've been married 21 years — and never yet got anywhere on time."

"Of course I wouldn't want to marry anyone else if anything ever happened to you. Not unless she had real money, anyway."

"You carry out the garbage, honey. I'm tired."

Khrushchev Couldn't Deliver

When Georgi Malenkov, during his short span as the Soviet Union's helmsman back in 1953, tried to promote a consumer-friendly economy, he quickly found himself demoted to running an electrical plant in Siberia. Now, eleven years later, Nikita Khrushchev, the "friend" on whom the entire capitalist West was gambling, is tossed out of office as a "harebrained schemer" just a few weeks after he had ordered his economists to draw up new plans to "satisfy the growing material and spiritual needs of the people."

So, ironically, we have Khrushchev dismissed after his decision to practice Malenkovism. It does not necessarily follow that this was the reason for the dismissal; no doubt the new rulers of Russia, Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin, would also like to see the Russian consumer satisfied. But the real question in Soviet Russia is whether anybody can dare raise the expectations of the people without getting himself into the sort of trouble that leads to "harebrained schemes."

The stark truth of the matter is that the Soviet economy can't in the very nature of things do much for the consumer. Central planning of an economic system just doesn't produce plenty. This may be disputed by the socialists among us. But even without getting into any argument about central planning, one can prove the point about the Soviet economy's deficiency by looking at news items that are several years apart.

For example, Khrushchev promised in 1957 that by 1960 the Russian people would be eating as much beef as the Americans. But in 1964 the Soviets are hardly getting any meat at all. Because of the failure of the grain harvest of 1963, the slaughter of cattle this year from nearby for the meat shortage, the Russians have been buying almost three million dollars worth of cattle this year from nearby Turkey. The fact that this can't be anywhere near enough to satisfy the Russian market is proved by a comparison between consumer prices in Moscow and the Turkish capital of Ankara. It costs three times as much to eat meat in Russia as it does in Turkey.

The consumer, in Russia, has been consistently bilked. Butter prices have risen. All the amelioration schemes promoted by Khrushchev have had hard going. A plan to irrigate the Crimean steppes with water from the Dnieper River to raise rice is evidently coming to little; newspapers in the Ukraine have been complaining that the irrigation channel "construction men are not hurrying."

The wheat harvests in the Ukraine and the Don regions are supposed to be good this year, but in the Asiatic grain areas on which Khrushchev had banked so much there have been severe August rains. Pravda, the official Communist Party newspaper, has complained about the lag in the grain storage building program.

Against this background of agricultural crisis, Khrushchev's promises to the consumer must have appeared to be tremendously unsettling to the members of the Communist Party Central Committee. In recent months the very foundations of a socialist economy have been seriously questioned in Russian publications. Writing in Pravda, Yevsey Liberman, a harkov University professor, called for the introduction of profit incentives into the Soviet system. This was in August, when Khrushchev was still on top of things. A month later, in Pravda, economist Lev Leontiev asked if good management of industry could be reconciled with central planning.

All of this must have caused more restlessness among the Russian people than Khrushchev could handle. Meanwhile, the grumbling inside of the Soviet Union has been echoed in the satellites where, with the exception of Rumania, the grain harvests have continued to be poor. So-called Comecon planning to integrate the satellite economies with that of Russia hasn't had any particular success. On top of all this, Khrushchev's policies on the Red China issue had been rejected by the Italian and French Communist Parties, and Cuba has been costing Moscow a pretty penny.

No wonder the distracted Khrushchev had turned to "harebrained schemes." But can Brezhnev add Kosygin do any better with a system that can only work under the lash, and not for very long at that?

STEWARDESSES were being hired to staff a new trans-Pacific airline and the question was asked, "What would you do if the plane had to be ditched, and you found yourself the only girl on a remote tropical isle, gar- risoned by 10,000 soldiers and only one officer?"

An English applicant admitted, "I should probably faint."

An American applicant said, "I should expect the lone officer to keep his troops in order."

A French applicant said, "What is zee problem?"

Little Barbara's eyes glistened as she confided to her mother, "I hope I get some scrumptious presents for Christmas. 'You mustn't think only of getting, dear,' chided her mother. 'You must think of giving, too.' 'I will,' promised Barbara. 'I hope everybody gives me scrumptious presents for Christmas.'"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: What are varicose veins?

A: The veins of the legs lie just below the surface of the skin and deep in the muscles. These veins return the circulating blood to the heart. Because of man's upright position or weakness of the walls of the veins, they frequently become enlarged, dilated and lengthened in a snake-like fashion.

Q: What causes them?

A: Excessive weight, pregnancy, fibroids of the uterus and many general illnesses of the body that affect the circulation can produce varicose veins in the superficial and deep veins of the legs.

Q: What symptoms are caused by varicose veins?

A: Persistent fatigue of the muscles of the legs, tenderness and soreness of the muscles and swelling of the ankles can occur with uncomplicated varicose veins.

Longstanding varicosities may produce chronic ulcerations of the legs, infections (phlebitis) and clots within the veins.

It is for this very reason that all varicose veins should be examined and followed by a physician with regularity, to avoid converting an uncomplicated problem into a troublesome one.

Q: If varicose veins are not seen, can they still be present and produce symptoms?

A: The deep veins in the legs may have varicosities, even without too much visual evidence on the outer skin. Circulatory symptoms have been traced to changes in the deep veins of the legs.

Q: How can the presence of deep varicose veins be detected?

A: There are excellent tests to determine the presence or absence of both superficial

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Jobs have been increasing much faster than government statistics might indicate. And contrary to the widely held view that jobs are disappearing, the U.S. economy has been producing new ones at a rate that outstrips the gain in the working age population.

This challenge to the government statistics on the percentage of the labor force that can't find work is made by the economists of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, Mo.

The official unemployment rate as held stubbornly above 5 per cent, except for one month, for several years. This has been dubbed one of the most serious shortcomings of an otherwise largely prosperous economy.

The bank contends that the economy's job-producing achievement has been downgraded because the wrong basis of comparison is used.

The government estimate of employment, unemployment, and the rate of joblessness in the labor force is based on a monthly survey of 35,000 households by the Department of Labor. The labor force thus estimated is a projection of the sum of those with jobs and those who say they want jobs. It varies widely from month to month as people decide they do or don't want work.

The bank economists hold that other data collected by the department is more accurate and a much better indicator of short-run employment developments. This is the payroll employment reported each month by employers.

Using the actual payrolls, the economists find that employment has been rising faster and higher than the other — or total employment — data indicates. And in relation to the population growth in the working ages, the increase in jobs has been marked.

So far this year payroll employment has increased at an annual rate of about 3.1 per cent. The 20 to 64 age group has been increasing at a 1.2 per cent clip, and the 18 to 64 group at 1.4 per cent.

Both the total employment and the payroll employment data of the Labor Department have shown gains since the economy started upward early in 1961.

But the bank points out that the commonly used total employment figure has risen during 1 1/2 years at an annual rate of 1.7 per cent.

This has kept the unemployment percentage of the labor force disturbingly high.

The payroll employment data, however, shows a 2.9 per cent annual gain. And since the first of the year the increase has averaged 3.1 per cent. This gives the economy far better marks for creating jobs, despite automation, ends obsolescence, and the school drop-out problem.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren
Don't Censor Her, Yet!

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a woman who is married and a mother returning to high school to complete her education? I understand in some states it is allowed if she is under 18. A 16-year-old mother (Shotgunned) wants to return. The other girls will undoubtedly accept her and make a fuss over her and, by so doing, will appear to approve of her past behavior. She, in turn, can instruct them well in married life. I feel for the girl, but I also feel for the good girls who have been raised with high moral standards. I think if such a girl wants to complete her education she should go to a school outside her district. What do you think?

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: If the girl is legally entitled to return to school in the district of her residence, that's that. As for the commotion she might cause that would depend on her behavior and that of the other girls. The school authorities are capable of judging fairly. Give the girl a chance.

DEAR ABBY: Is it okay to go out with a married man if you keep your distance?

TEMPTED
DEAR TEMPTED: Why don't you ask his wife and "keep your distance" when you do?

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old girl and I love to draw. Especially horses. My piano teacher is a very good artist and that is what I want to be. If I have a good piano lesson my teacher teaches me how to draw horses and I like that a lot better than playing the piano. I asked my father if I could quit piano and take drawing lessons instead, and he looked at me like I was crazy or something. I can spend hours drawing, and never get tired, but when I practice the piano for half an hour I am worn out. How can I get my father to let

New Corduroy Creations

By SUSAN BARDEN
Not too many years ago corduroy was associated with sturdy pants for growing boys and girls. But now it is right up there holding its own with the high style fabrics.

Due to modern textile methods which have developed the new wide wales, the material can be treated like velvet and lends itself to every type of creation, from sportswear to evening ensembles.

The colors most popular for daytime and sports are beige and other neutral shades — for those who favor a muted look — and bright primitive shades of green, blue and yellow for the younger set.

The white theme for late autumn and winter is also carried out in corduroy. Designers use it in some surprising innovations.

For instance, there are bridal suits with long skirts and trains. These can be transferred into dinner costumes with the removal of the train. Also particularly notable are the white theater suits in either long or short versions.

Probably the most exciting twosome is an evening cloak in stark white worn over a camisole gown. Both are dripping in black ostrich.

Rural Ohio Has Lost 3-4 Of Their Representatives

For 20 years the big city Democrat leaders have tried to abolish 3/4 of the rural representatives in the Ohio Legislature.

For 20 years the Farm Bureau, Grange, township trustees and Republican legislators have fought these big city Democrat leaders.

At last through an inconsistent ruling of the Supreme Court, this selfish Democrat proposal has been accomplished — 36 of the 48 rural Ohio representatives must be abolished. About four rural counties will be combined with one vote instead of four.

Disciplined Christian Living

HOW A MINISTER'S PERSONAL LIFE INFLUENCES
HIS MINISTRY

Scripture—I Timothy 3:14-4:16.

By R. H. RAMSEY

TODAY'S lesson introduces a subject which will be considered in greater detail in Paul's second letter to Timothy, namely the dangers lying ahead for the early church and the minister's responsibility to his congregation in the light of these dangers. In writing of these, Paul makes two of the greatest doctrinal statements found in his epistles, both of which we are concerned with today.

In I Timothy 3, the apostle has been discussing the qualifications for bishops and deacons, to which he adds a word concerning the conduct of church women. This leads him to a great statement concerning the church, as a whole, as the supporter and teacher of the Divine Truth. This statement is followed by one regarding the Incarnation in which there are three pairs of contrasts: the flesh and the spirit, angels and nations, and the world and glory.

In this declaration, Paul asserts the previous existence of Christ in the Trinity and his spiritual vindication by God liars secretly aware of their own corroding sins.

In that present desertion of God's own doctrines, Paul saw the beginning of a greater desertion yet to come, and immediately cut the foundation from under such teaching by declaring that everything God has created is good and not to be despised if received with thanksgiving.

In the light of all this, the apostle now directs his words to Timothy's own personal conduct. He should refuse to be bothered by the present and future heresies just discussed and continue as he had been, following the true doctrine as had been taught him.

To illustrate this thought, Paul introduces the idea of exercise. Physical exercise is good, but it counts little toward the world to come. On the other hand, godly exercise—godly living, the teaching of the Word of God and good works—are not confined to the things of this world, but extend throughout eternity.

Beneath the Cross, this idea of self-culture calls for

GOLDEN TEXT

"But refuse profane and old wives' fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness. For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come."—I Timothy 4:7, 8.

when the Father declared Christ to be His Son.

The hosts of heaven are depicted as worshipping the exalted Son of God, eager to receive Him back—the idea of angelic adoration of the Son was a popular theme among early Christians.

The preaching of the Gospel of Christ, which had already spread through Asia, Macedonia and Greece, is assigned a lofty position, indicative of the status of the Incarnation of Christ in God's purpose. The chapter closes with a mention of the humiliated Messiah's exalted entry into His heavenly sphere, gathering up Paul's previous statement regarding the angels' worship of Christ.

I Timothy 4 begins with Paul's sober warnings of the false doctrines, and the heresies behind them, which were already intruding into the congregations of the early church. Here, in the ideas of abstinence from meat and marriage, we discover the beginnings of so-called claimants of superior knowledge, those men characterized by a pretense of holiness, but in reality, deliberate

Oklahoma Interest Is Intense In State's Senatorial Campaign

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Once upon a time, Oklahomans spent each autumn talking about football. This year it's different.

Oklahoma's football fortunes are sagging — the Sooners lost to Texas again — and conversation now skims over such tragedies and centers instead on politics.

Republican Bud Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach, is running against Democrat Fred Harris, a 33-year-old state senator, in a nip-and-tuck general election campaign for U.S. Senate.

Statewide polls show the race is close. Veteran observers say interest in the Wilkinson-Harris match is so intense the total vote on the Senate race could top that on the presidential race.

This is the first plunge into politics for Wilkinson, who gained national fame during his 17 years as football coach and while serving three years as head of the President's Council on Physical Fitness. Harris has served eight years in the state Senate and ran unsuccessfully for governor two years ago.

The winner of the Nov. 3 election will serve until January 1967, completing the six-year term to which Democrat Sen. Robert S. Kerr was elected in 1960.

Kerr died on Jan. 1, 1963, and a few days later Democrat J. Howard Edmondson resigned as Oklahoma governor and was appointed to fill the vacancy until the next general election.

Harris defeated Edmondson in a primary election runoff last spring while Wilkinson swamped two Republican opponents to win the GOP nomination without a runoff.

Both Wilkinson and Harris have aligned themselves with their party's presidential ticket.

When Sen. Barry Goldwater carried his campaign to Oklahoma, a beaming Wilkinson was on hand to introduce and praise the nominee at a Tulsa rally.

Goldwater in turn plugged for Wilkinson's election. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also will visit the state in Wilkinson's behalf.

Harris calls in each of his speeches for the election of President Johnson and his road, side billboards proclaim: "Harris-LBJ, Democratic all the way."

During a recent "nonpolitical" visit to Oklahoma, Johnson said "Send me Fred Harris and we'll bring home the bacon and tack the coonskin to the wall."

He added: "Fred and I will charge hell with a bucket of water."

Both Wilkinson and Harris shun liberal or conservative labels, but Wilkinson clearly is the more conservative of the two, calling for an end "of the steady drift to more and more big government control over our lives."

At the start of his campaign, Harris said "I will run neither as a liberal nor a conservative. I will campaign on good old Oklahoma common sense."

Wilkinson, 48 and a native of Minnesota, changed his political affiliation from Democrat to Republican before entering the Senate race.

Wilkinson looks more like an English professor — he holds a master's degree in English education — than the nation's top college football coach. Tall and trim, he has silver gray hair and dresses in conservative gray or blue suits.

Harris, born and reared on a southern Oklahoma farm, worked his way through the University of Oklahoma as a printer for the campus paper. He obtained degrees in government, history and law and earned a Phi Beta Kappa key.

A stocky 185-pounder, Harris parts his thick black hair down the middle and is a conservative dresser.

They are waging surprisingly similar campaigns — both leaning heavily on personal contact. The candidates are being aided in campaign chores by their wives, Mary Wilkinson and Ladonna Harris. The Wilkinsons have two sons, one in medical school and the other studying for the ministry. Ladonna Harris and the three Harris children, ages 2, 6 and 14, are enrolled members of the Comanche Indian tribe.

During the campaign, Harris has denounced Goldwater while Wilkinson has termed Democratic vice-presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey "the acknowledged leader of the left-wing liberals."

Wilkinson's sharpest attacks have been directed at Harris' attendance record in the state Senate, where Wilkinson said he ranked 41st of 44 senators last session in answering roll call votes.

"Elect me and I'll put Oklahoma first, not 41st," Wilkinson often says. Harris replies that Wilkinson is attempting "to divert attention from the fact he has a total and life-long absenteeism from participation in public affairs."

In stressing his experience in politics and government, Harris says "a candidate for U.S. Senate, like a doctor or coach, ought to be prepared for the job."

He sometimes adds that University of Oklahoma regents, when searching for Wilkinson's successor, didn't consider hiring a politician as coach.

Wilkinson devotes much of his campaign to wooing Democratic voters, since Democrats outnumber Republicans in Oklahoma about 4-1 — a million Democrats, 250,000 Republicans.

Harris' campaign is being coordinated by state Democratic headquarters and some of his top aides were part of the powerful political organization built by Kerr.

Wilkinson's campaign is not tied in with the state GOP organization. But other Republican candidates are seeking to identify themselves with the former coach.

Democrats concede that there is some basis for the Republican hopes in many of the contested districts but in others they say the GOP is guilty of wishful thinking.

Owen, who was arrested and turned over to Oklahoma police shortly after the shooting, apparently was disgruntled over his firing more than three years ago, police said.

Mrs. Snyder remains in serious condition in Kettering Memorial hospital. Wagner, who was shot four times in the chest is reported in satisfactory condition to a wheel chair as a result of a polio attack. The boy, a high school senior, staggered from the scene for help after the shooting. He is reported in good condition.

Milk-Drinker Sect Eyes New Home in Australia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two hundred years ago in central Russia a group of farmers defied the Russian Orthodox Church by drinking milk whenever they pleased, even on holy days. Despised and persecuted, they were called Molokans—milk-drinkers.

Two hundred years later in Southern California, their descendants wear the Molokan name like a badge of honor and likewise defy many standards of the society in which they live.

One of them, John E. Shubin, 38, recently won the right not to have his long-bearded face photographed for his driver's license, on the ground that image-making violated his religious beliefs.

A week later, eight Molokan families sailed for Australia in search of a better place to live than Los Angeles, a sunshine mecca to millions but sinful to most Molokans.

Twenty more families are thinking about making the voyage to Australia next month.

The sect is more fully known as the Russian Molokan Christian Holy Spiritual Jumpers. They became jumpers after 1833 when "the holy spirit touched the hearts of the spiritual Christians," according to a Church document.

The Molokans say this is the same spirit that was bestowed upon the Apostles of Jesus, and when it moves them at church rituals, they jump.

Worship by jumping only increased their persecution at the hands of the Czarist government and the Orthodox Church. The Molokans knew they had to get out of Russia. But where should they go?

Fortunately the practice of jumping, which was responsible for stirring persecution to a greater frenzy, also provided the means to learn where God wanted them to go.

According to their belief, a jumping Molokan can prophesy. The prophets said they should come to this country, which they did in the early 1900s, settling principally in the Los Angeles area. But the prophets also told them the United States would not be the final home of the faithful.

You can read many things in the human face. It is often the mirror of our emotions. It is sometimes the reflection of our character.

But almost never does the face reveal the needs of the human soul. Like some artificial mask it can look satisfied when the soul is starving. It can look calm when the soul is troubled. It can look content when the soul is restless and yearning.

How then can we read our soul's needs?

Guidance Head Keeps Abreast Of New Trends

By LINDA GOODMAN

Mr. Richard Fisher, certified head of guidance at CHS is excellently prepared for his position.

He not only holds a Masters degree in guidance, but constantly keeps abreast of the trends through institutes, workshops, reading and study.

In the summer of 1963, Mr. Fisher attended a guidance and counseling session at Ohio State University. This was sponsored by NDEA (National Defense Education Act of 1958) which provides funds for these sessions.

Thirty certificated high school guidance counselors, all with M. A. degrees attended. They were from various states, but mostly Ohio.

He also attended the College Admissions Conference at Ohio University in Athens on Sept. 28, 1964.

The conference opened with an address by Dr. Alden, president of Ohio University.

A panel of college admissions personnel discussed problems common to high school guidance counselors and college admission officers.

In the afternoon, group sessions with college admissions officers were held in which they told of changes in plans of their respective colleges.

A question and answer period followed involving all the high school counselors.

2 Students Praised for Test Scores

Two CHS students have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given last spring.

The students are William Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Knox, Garden City, and Stephen Weiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Weiler, 175 Sunset Drive.

The commended students were among the high school juniors in approximately 17,000 schools who took the NMQST last March. The test is a three-hour examination that covers five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the tenth annual merit program.

The annual merit scholarship competition is open to all high schools in the United States and its territories. There are about 5,000 merit scholars currently enrolled in more than 400 colleges and universities. Approximately 9,100 merit scholars have been appointed to date. This year's program will conclude about April 28, 1965, with the naming of finalists who will receive four-year merit scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

Scholarships awarded through the merit program are financed by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation itself and by more than 230 sponsoring business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, and individuals.

Grade School News Report

HIGH STREET

The fourth grade of High Street Elementary School participated in the WLWC-TV "Salute to Circleville."

Mrs. John Beck, mother of Ruth Beck, a student in the fourth grade, brought a churn, bowl, and butter molds to the classroom on Thursday afternoon. All children helped with the churning of the butter and as a climax to the afternoon, enjoyed eating buttered crackers. The project was conducted in connection with a social studies unit.

On Friday, Oct. 9, several members of the Historical Society of Circleville visited the TV station in Columbus and showed the churn to the visiting audience. Mrs. Guy Campbell presented a pound of butter made by the fourth graders, the previous day, to Dean Miller, host of the TV program.

A note was received by the class this week from Mrs. Campbell, thanking them for their efforts in making the "Salute to Circleville" a great success.

Senior Class commencement announcements will be voted on soon.

Pumpkin Show Is Here

By LINDA GOODMAN

It's here! The week we've all been waiting for. It's the week of the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

But why do we have such an occasion? Pumpkin Show is more of a tradition than anything else. It all started back when a store owner set up a small display of pumpkins and corn.

To the younger generation, Pumpkin Show means rides, cotton candy, toys, and the aroma of French fries. Yet, to the older generation, Pumpkin Show brings out the old Circleville. The Circleville when there were no industries such as Du Pont, PPG, and Owens-Illinois. It lets people know that our Circleville is still a great farming center for corn, wheat, and pumpkins.

It makes one feel good, doesn't it? Both the young and old alike. All love it, so go out and have a lot of fun at your Circleville Pumpkin Show!

Teacher of the Week

This week the journalism class has chosen Mr. Terry Ater of Clarksburg, as teacher of the week.

Mr. Ater is a 1960 graduate of Clarksburg High School. After graduation he attended Otterbein College of which he graduated in the spring of 64. Teaching eighth grade English at Circleville is Mr. Ater's first teaching position. He will also be freshman basketball coach.

Mr. Ater's interests consist of bowling, baseball, basketball, fishing, and helping his father with race horses. While in college, Mr. Ater played basketball for two years and baseball for four years.

When asked how he liked it here at CHS; he said, "I like it very much."

Drama Group Enters Float In PS Parades

By NANCY PICKEL

The Curtian Callers, drama club at CHS, are quite proud of their float which has been seen in all the parades thus far.

The float centers on the theme of the "Wonderful Wizard of Pumpkin Land". Characters portrayed on it are the lion, the scarecrow, the tin woodman, the wizard, and Dorothy.

All in all, the work on the float is very clever. For example, the skirt of leaves.

Club members wish to thank David Yates of Yates Buick for his contribution of a 1965 Buick that will be used in all parades.

If you haven't seen this float already, look for it — Tonight!

We've heard, "If a tree grows in Brooklyn..." but we haven't heard, "If a tree grows in Mr. Jacob's office."

Drag racers ran Mrs. Mitten off the road last week. We sincerely hope CHS students know better and weren't involved.

Musical Show Combines All School Units

By NANCY PICKEL

The all school musical, "Our Hearts Were Young And Gay", to be presented Nov. 21 and 22, is one of the high school activities that unifies efforts of the entire school.

Combined departments and those heading them are as follows: director, Robert Ransom; vocal music, Truman Eberly; instrumental, Clifford Kerns; junior class adviser, Wallace Higgins; journalism class, Mrs. Janet Boggs; costumes, Mrs. Betty Rickey and Mrs. Gloria Gabriel.

Of course many others are involved, including Mrs. Viola Benzenberg who will handle all choreography.

Many people saw and enjoyed a preview of what is to be expected in the play last Friday night at the Homecoming Dance when the boys in the play gave a short presentation.

The ticket committee announces that ticket sales begin on Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Crown Queen During Dance

By PATSY GALLION

Miss Patricia Young was crowned queen at the Homecoming dance last Friday night. Patty was escorted by Bruce Horn. Her court consisted of Louise Adkins, escorted by Gene Smith; and Jane Kutler, escorted by Doug Price.

The queen and her court were entertained by some of the students in the all-school musical "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

The evening was filled with delightful music by "The Old Lamp Lighters."

Security Is:

By PATTI JEFFRIES

Having your leaf project in on time.

"Going Steady?"

Knowing you passed a six-weeks test.

Being in your seat when the tardy bell rings.

Having money for the Pumpkin Show.

Knowing you have your room spotless when your mother inspects it.

Knowing you have a ride to away football games.

Hearing the hum of your motor as you turn the ignition on, on a cold winter morning.

Pulling into your driveway two minutes before your curfew.

Getting your typing done before the bell rings.

Knowing your teacher didn't see you pass a note to your friend in the next row.

Catching your bus in the morning.

Sports — Forecast, Records

By DAVE AMEY

Here's hoping that nobody lost any manna on last week's football games after reading the predictions. It looks like the tea leaves didn't even come close.

Worst of all was the league deciding game — Circleville and Wilmington. Our dumb prognosticator picked Circleville by an extra point, but forgot that CHS had to score a touchdown before making the point after He'll be more careful next time.

After seeing the CHS-WHS game, we wonder what makes the Hurricane windy. It has to be the "Big Daddy." We think without him, WHS would not be league leader. Such is life.

Behind Wilmington in the SCO

League are Circleville, Hillsboro and Greenfield, all with 2-1 records.

Greenfield beat Miami Trace, 16-6 with 16 points in the last quarter Friday night.

Hillsboro shut out WCH 27-0. Both WCH-MTHS are last in the league at 0-3.

Circleville tangles with Hillsboro tonight for second place in the SCOL. CHS should win by two touchdowns.

Wilmington plays host to Greenfield Friday and should win easily.

In the battle of the last placers, WCH plays Miami Trace. Trace is powerful when they don't fumble. So is WCH. The game should play to a tie.

Briton Says U.S. Doing OK In Space Race

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—The United States and Russia are running neck and neck in their race to the moon and this country must not panic, says an English space expert.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, said the U. S. is far ahead of Russia in instrumentation of its space vehicles, but the Russians lead in their ability to launch heavy vehicles.

Lovell is said to be the only western scientist to have inspected Russian space facilities. He recently made a 12,000-mile tour of Soviet optical and radio observatories, space tracking networks and facilities in radio astronomy.

He told an audience at Ashland College he expects the Russians' flight around the globe with a three-man spaceship to lead to a space platform this year.

It would be equipped, he explained, with a telescope and manned by an engineer and an astronomer, and would be in orbit five to seven days before returning to Earth.

He praised the U. S. Apollo project for a moon study and declared Russia has no similar concept for a lunar orbit. But he feels Russia is near to completing a project for a soft landing of instruments on the moon for an instrumental investigation.

The deadline for applying for the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board is Nov. 7. Registration should be completed by then.

The School Thrift Plan was initiated Tuesday, Oct. 20, at CHS. Money will be collected from each participant every Tuesday morning and deposited in one of three participating Circleville banks.

Nancy Pickel is the Red and Black Exchange Editor. It will be her duty to see that other schools receive the Red and Black page weekly.

Curtain Callers have worked hectically on their Pumpkin Show float. We hope for Mr. Ransom's sake, the leaves haven't blown off!

'47 Ohio Escapee Appears Free Now

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A fugitive who escaped from an Ohio prison 17 years ago and stayed free until he was arrested last month as a drunk is free once again—this time, it appears, for good.

Walter Cecil Fugett, 53, was told in Municipal Court that an Ohio fugitive warrant against him has been dismissed.

Fugett, who had been convicted of shooting with attempt to kill his first wife, was arrested in September on a drunk charge filed by his second wife. A routine check of his fingerprints disclosed that he had escaped from the prison farm at London, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1947, where he had been serving a 20-year sentence.

Illinois Voter To Tap 177 Candidates on List of 236

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Pity the Illinois voter when he goes to the polls Nov. 3.

No one else in the nation will be confronted with his headache — marking a separate ballot nearly three feet long and a foot wide and listing 236 choices for the Illinois House.

This separate orange-colored ballot is necessary because reapportionment has forced Illinois to elect state representatives on an at-large basis instead of by districts.

If the voter becomes color blind, there will be a reason.

Now only will he see orange, he will be given a white ballot listing candidates for President and state offices, a blue one on constitutional amendments, and a green ballot on judges.

What makes it more confusing is the voter has a variety of options in selecting his choices for the legislature. One little mistake can void his ballot.

Of the 236 names on the legislative ballot, 118 are listed in the Democratic column and 118 on the Republican side.

A voter can pick up to 177 candidates — the number of seats in the House — and each would get one vote. But if he chooses one too many, the ballot will be thrown out.

The at-large election followed a sequence of events beginning last year.

The Republican-controlled

Illinois Legislature passed a bill reapportioning the state's 59 House districts. Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner vetoed it on the ground that it was unfair from a population standpoint.

At this point the state constitution required the governor to appoint a bipartisan commission to produce reapportionment.

After months of bickering, the deadlocked commission was disbanded. No other procedure was left to avoid the at-large election.

Because of the mass of votes to be counted, it is expected to be days after the election before the results are known.

Graham Crusade Raises $309,959

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An audit of the Billy Graham Crusade conducted here last July disclosed the crusade raised $309,959 through donations and offerings.

The local crusade audit contained no remuneration for Billy Graham, who receives his salary from the Evangelistic Association with offices in Minneapolis.

Total receipts toward the budget of the crusade were $196,877, donations including songbook contributions, pre-crusade and stadium offerings, the audit showed. Special stadium offerings and donations for television programing amounted to $71,711 and collections for the Hour of Decision broadcasts were $41,371.

New State Safety Building Is Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren C. Nelson, director of the Department of Highway Safety, said today the next legislature would be asked to appropriate funds for a new safety department building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Nelson has discussed the proposed building program with the Ohio Department of Finance and indicated he has been given the authorization to proceed with the project. The building, cost of which as not been determined, would house the Department of Safety, Highway Patrol and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Platoon-Wise Teams Facing Fresh Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Platoon-wise teams — headed by Ohio State, Notre Dame, and Alabama — will try to prove again Saturday there is no substitute for mastery of the new substitution rule.

For some of the most skilled in specialization, bowl bait already is being dangled and scouts from post-season football festivals have a busy weekend scheduled.

Sure, it takes talent to keep winning. Nobody argues the point. But there is no mere coincidence in the fact nine of the top 10 teams have gone all the way to platoons and the other — Louisiana State — employs the three unit system.

"We wouldn't be half so good under the old rules," frankly admits Ara Parseghian, coach of second-ranked Notre Dame, which plays host to Stanford.

The rule in question permits free substitution when the clock is stopped and two players per team when it is running.

One unnamed member of the Sugar Bowl selection committee says he's willing to gamble on inviting Notre Dame and LSU right now. Both clubs are prominent on the Orange Bowl list, too.

Moose Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, is busy reminding folks of the school's traditional anti-bowl policy but there is a feeling the Irish might make an exception. That they are strong enough to get bowl talk flying is a compliment to Parseghian's organization — and platoons.

Although many of the athletes are the same, it's a much different Notre Dame team than the one which closed out '63 in a 14-7 losing effort against Syracuse at Yankee Stadium. The defense was sound but the attack was not consistent.

Ohio State, successor to deposed Texas in the nation's No. 1 spot, is the team considered to have the inside track for the Big Ten crown and Rose Bowl trip. The Buckeyes have been platooning for several seasons so despite some key losses Woody Hayes' boys have fit right into the pattern neatly. While Willard Sander is one of the top rushers in the country Arnie Chonko heads all major college pass interceptions.

Ohio State has a major Big Ten date with Wisconsin while its fellow conference leader, Purdue, faces the anxious moments which go with Iowa Gary Snook's passing.

Third-ranked Alabama and Florida's No. 9 Gators meet in the battle of Tuscaloosa with the undisputed Southeastern Conference lead and unbeaten records in the balance.

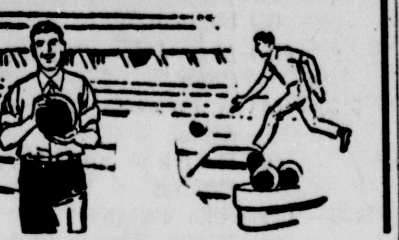

Meanwhile, LSU faces Tennessee after winning its first four games for the first time since 1959. That's the last time the two met and the Vols upset the Tigers. In fact, LSU has beaten Tennessee only once in 12 meetings.

Arkansas, the fourth-ranked eleven which dethroned Texas last week, sends its platoons against nonleague rival Wichita while Texas, No. 6, has an important Southwest Conference engagement at Rice.

CHS Harriers Top Hilliard

Larry Morgan
First in 10:37

The Circleville High School cross country track team defeated Hilliard harriers yesterday 24-31.

Coming in first in the meet was Larry Morgan, who paced the two-mile course in 10:37.

Dick Butz was edged out of second place for the Tiger runners by a visitor, but finished only three seconds behind the winning time.

John Butts was fifth in 10:53. Doug Pontious was seventh in 11:03 and Ronnie Seward was eighth in 11:07.

Running 15th and 16th for the Tigers were Paul Leach and Bruce Cook.

Dave LaBounty, CHS coach, noted that all times were better. He attributed part of this improvement to the close race, noting that the runners seemed to "put out a little more when they had a chance of winning."

The next meet for the local harriers comes Tuesday when they host Reynoldsburg at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Celtics Alone At Top of Heap in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Let baseball have its tight pennant races. The Boston Celtics, who believe in doing things the easy way, are all alone atop the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division today after only one week of play.

Of course, it's not a very big lead — yet. But the Celtics, shooting for their seventh straight NBA championship, made it two victories in a row Thursday night with a 104-102 triumph over Detroit.

In the second game of the doubleheader at Philadelphia, the Baltimore Bullets turned back the 76ers, 138-135, in overtime.

Sam Jones' short jump shot with 36 seconds left carried the Celtics to victory after the world champs had blown a 15-point lead in the last period. Reggie Hardin's three-pointer with 51 second left tied the score and set up Jones' winning shot.

As usual, the Boston attack was well-balanced. Jones scored 23 points, John Havlicek added 17 and Bill Russell, Tom Sanders and K.C. Jones had 14 apiece. Detroit's Ray Scott took game honors with 27.

Philadelphia held Baltimore's big Walt Bellamy to a meager four points, while Don Ohl and Gus Johnson chipped in with 37 each and Bailey Howell added 24.

Hal Greer, Philadelphia's top marksman with 29 points, had sent the game into overtime with a goal that tied the score in regulation time at 126-all.

Dave Gambee added 28 points for the losers.

Wilt Chamberlain spent July touring Europe and flew to Stockholm to witness the Floyd Patterson-Eddie Machen fight.

Court Action Bars Braves Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, determined to move their franchise, will seek to set aside a court order that blocked their initial efforts to play in Atlanta next year.

The Braves' board of directors was all set to ask for National League approval Thursday but was unable to do so because of the temporary restraining order awarded to the Milwaukee County Commission by a Wisconsin Circuit Court.

As a consequence, the league decided at a special meeting to delay any vote of approval until the club is free legally to leave Wisconsin.

The county bases its case on a breach of contract since the Braves' pact provides that the club perform at County Stadium in Milwaukee in 1965.

William Bartholomay, chairman of the Braves' board of directors, acknowledged the legal maneuver was a temporary setback but expressed confidence the club will be able to show cause before Circuit Court Judge Ronald Drescher next Tuesday why it should be permitted to leave Milwaukee.

"We feel confident we will be able to present a list of determining factors which make it imperative for us to move the club," he said.

"It is our firm belief that we have exhausted every possible means to keep the franchise in Milwaukee."

At Tuesday's hearing in Milwaukee, it will be decided whether an injunction shall be granted against the proposed move.

Should an injunction be granted, it would be a severe blow to Atlanta's hopes of having a major league club in 1965. A 52,000-seat stadium, costing $18 million, is halfway completed and was expected to be ready for the Braves next April.

This possibility did not appear to weigh heavily either on the Braves or National League President Warren Giles, who said the league had empowered him to call another special meeting as soon as the Braves were free to move.

"I anticipate another league meeting as soon as the restraining order is lifted — which should be soon," he said.

Another reason the league delayed its vote which had every aspect of being in favor of the move, was the threat made by Eugene Grobbschmidt, chairman of the Milwaukee County Board, to sue the league and the other nine club owners, as well, if approval was given.

"We're ready to carry this to the Supreme Court, if necessary," Rice said.

"There's only one way in which our contract with the Braves would go out the window," Grobbschmidt added. "That is if we were assured of another club coming to Milwaukee and we made an agreement with them to play in County Stadium next season."

Grobbschmidt said a couple of teams were interested in moving to Milwaukee if the Braves moved out.

"I am only free to identify one," he said. "That is Kansas City."

'65 Comet completes 16,200-mile durability run from Cape Horn to Fairbanks, Alaska, in 40 days

Shades of Daytonal Comet is famous for durability. Last year, specially equipped Comets ran 100,000 miles at Daytona in 40 days.

Regular production-model Comets used, just like showroom Comets. Want to see the car that made it from Cape Horn to Fairbanks? Visit your Mercury dealer's. Check a 1965 Comet Caliente, with smooth Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic. The only difference: the run cars had an extra gas tank, because service stations are frequently so far apart in South America.

Comets are ready for immediate delivery. No waiting, if you order yours now.

FAIRBANKS, Oct. 22 — Three Mercury Comets today finished a run no car has ever attempted in so short a time—the rugged 16,200-mile grind from Cape Horn to Fairbanks.

En route, day and night, the cars had no major repairs, just routine maintenance. That's ample proof that 1965 Comets are powerful and tough, not just lively and beautiful.

ORDINANCE NO. 78-44
AN ORDINANCE OF THE
CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO
AND TO REPEAL AN ORDINANCE NO. 54-4, AND TO PROVIDE FOR A TAP-IN CHARGE FOR CONNECTING PRIVATE SEWER LINES WITH PUBLIC SEWER LINES

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio: SECTION 1. That in every instance where a private sewer line is to be connected with a public sewer line under the control and jurisdiction of the City of Circleville, Ohio, the owner, agent or lessee of the parcel of real estate from which the private sewer line shall extend to the public sewer line shall first obtain permission in writing from the Dept. of Water & Sewerage of the City of Circleville, Ohio, upon forms to be furnished by the said Department.

SECTION 2. That in every instance where a tap-in is to be made into the public sewer at a place where there is no way in the public sewer line for the tap-in to be made, the actual physical connection between the private sewer line and the public sewer line shall be made by the owner, agent or lessee of the private sewer line, or his authorized representative. In addition to making the actual physical connection, the Director of Water & Sewerage, or his authorized representative shall inspect the entire private sewer line installation from the building in which the private sewer line is installed to the tap-in in the public sewer line. The inspection shall be made within twenty-four (24) hours after notice of the completion of the laying of the private sewer line from the building to the public sewer line, and shall be made prior to the coverage of the private sewer line with dirt or the back filling of the private sewer line ditch. Provided, however, should the owner, agent or lessee of the private sewer line be required to perform a pressure test as a part of the inspection of the private sewer line, the owner, agent or lessee shall be obligated to pay for or perform the part of the inspection. A fee of Forty Dollars ($40.00) shall be charged by the City of Circleville for making the physical connection and performing the inspection as provided herein, and the said fee shall become due and payable by the owner, agent or lessee of the property at the time that he makes his application to the Department of Water & Sewerage for the tap-in into the public sewer line.

SECTION 3. That in every instance where a tap-in is to be made into the public sewer line at a place where there is a way already installed in the public sewer line for the tap-in to be made, the Director of Public Service of the City of Circleville, Ohio, or his authorized representative, shall merely inspect the physical connection and the private sewer line installation from the building in which the private sewer line is installed to the tap-in in the public sewer line, which inspection shall be made within twenty-four (24) hours after notice of the completion of the laying of the private sewer line from the building to the public sewer line, and shall be made prior to the coverage of the private sewer line with dirt or the back filling of the private sewer line ditch. A fee of Ten Dollars ($10.00) shall be charged by the City of Circleville for making the inspection as provided herein, and the said fee shall become due and payable by the owner, agent or lessee of the property at the time that he makes his application to the Department of Water & Sewerage for the tap-in into the public sewer line.

SECTION 4. That in every instance of a tap-in into a public sewer line as provided for in Sections 2 and 3 of this ordinance, the owner, agent or lessee of the property shall furnish a "Street Opening Bond" to the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the amount of $100.00, and shall be required to post the same at the office of the Director of Public Service prior to the commencement of the work.

In instances where it is not necessary to dig into any of the public streets of the city, no bond shall be required as provided for in this Section.

SECTION 5. That any person, firm or corporation that fails to obtain the required sewer connection permit, or to pay the inspection fee, or to obtain a street opening bond, as herein provided, prior to the commencement of the work shall be deemed to be in violation of this ordinance, and shall be liable to a fine of not less than Fifty Dollars ($50.00) and not more than Fifty Dollars ($50.00) and each such failure to comply with the foregoing section hereof shall be deemed a separate offense.

SECTION 6. That said permits shall be issued at the office of the Department of Water & Sewerage in the City of Circleville, Ohio, and the original shall be given to the applicant, the first copy shall be sent to the office of the Director of Public Service and the second copy shall be retained in the office.

SECTION 7. That the date of issuance of said permit shall be the effective date for the beginning of the sewer rental charge in accordance with the prevailing schedule of rates as prescribed by ordinance.

SECTION 8. That all monies derived through the issuance of permits as provided for in this ordinance and all bond forfeitures through failure of property owners, agents, or lessees to return the public streets to their former condition shall be paid into the General Revenue Fund of the City of Circleville, Ohio, and shall be expended in accordance with appropriations made by the Council of the City of Circleville.

SECTION 9. That Section No. 2854 of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Circleville, Ohio, providing for the manner and form of the connection of private sewer lines with public sewer lines in the City of Circleville, Ohio, is hereby repealed.

SECTION 10. That Ordinance No. 50-44 providing for the manner and form of the connection of private sewer lines with public sewer lines in the City of Circleville, Ohio, and the charges to be made therefor, is hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. That this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety of the citizens of the City of Circleville, Ohio, and for the further reason that it is urgently necessary to provide fair and equitable tap-in charges to be charged the property owners, agents or lessees, so that said property owners, agents or lessees shall connect their properties with the public sewer line and eliminate the unsanitary conditions within the city and thus protect the health of the citizens of the city, and this ordinance shall therefore go into immediate effect upon the passage thereof and approval by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, on October 20, 1964.

Ducking Is Ruled Illegal In Olympic Boxing Rings

TOKYO (AP) — It was Jack Dempsey who explained his first fight with Gene Tunney by saying: "I just forgot to duck."

At the Olympics, it doesn't even matter if you remember. Ducking is illegal.

So is tying up an opponent inside.

Hooking is frowned on.

And when the fellows in the corner get all excited, and start yelling at their tiger "murder the bum," the referee stops the fight, and tells them to shut up.

That's boxing at the Olympic Games, where the amateur spirit is in style, but you can still get your head knocked off if you aren't careful.

The leather-throwers have been at it since the Games started, and by the time the gold medals are hung around the necks of the winners Friday night there will have been more than 300 three-round bouts.

Oddly enough, the fighters haven't drawn too well, even though the sport — pro version — is still thriving in Japan.

Many seats in the auditorium are occupied by Japanese kids in school uniforms, a sure sign of audience packing at these Games.

Some mothers bring their little babies strapped on their backs. This seems a little strange to a visitor, but it is reported that Japanese have even been known to take babes in arms to strip tease shows.

True or not, it is insupportable enough that the cries of little babies sometimes ring out above the thuds of boxers' blows.

But back to that ducking business.

Under international amateur rules, it is against the law to duck a punch, because it is too easy to but the other guy when your head is down.

The referee will shout "stop," and tell you to keep your head up, if you duck.

The proper way to get under a punch is to bend your knees.

The referees don't like holding or the inside, either, and they will yell "stop" for that.

You're supposed to punch with the knuckles, and many a hooker is warned to hit with the flat part of the glove.

But most of the warnings are to the men in the corners to shut up. No advice is allowed.

One funny thing, though — all those warnings in the ring don't seem to mean anything.

Ask Tony Barber, the Australian light-middleweight.

He was in there with a tough Frenchman, and mid-way through the first round the two men clinched.

"Stop," the referee said.

Tony did. The Frenchman knocked him stiff.

Opinion Polls Have Difficulty Figuring Voters

Is LBJ as Far
Ahead as Reports
Indicate He Is?

NEW YORK (AP) — Public opinion pollsters have had a rough time in this presidential election year, trying to divine the intentions of that skittery crier, the American voter.

Nor is this the first time he has confounded them, notably in 1936, in 1948 and to a lesser degree in 1952.

So some questions arise. Is President Johnson in fact as far ahead of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater as the polls indicate at this stage?

Generally the figures give Johnson around 60 per cent of the vote. Some polls run higher than that, and some show a slightly lower figure. On Oct. 1 George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, gave Johnson 64 per cent and described this as an "unprecedented lead."

Are some factors, deep seated and difficult to measure, operating for Goldwater?

On Oct. 12 pollster Louis Harris said the GOP candidate "had cut President Johnson's lead." Harris put it at 58 per cent to 34 for Goldwater with eight per cent undecided.

On Oct. 14 a newspaper trade magazine, The American Press, said its poll of weekly and small daily newspaper publishers showed that the publishers believe Goldwater will win majority support from voters in their circulation areas. The magazine said the poll — taken mostly in rural areas — gave Goldwater 59.9 per cent to Johnson's 40.1 per cent. Wallace J. Olds, managing editor of the magazine, said 10,000 cards had been sent to subscribing publishers and replies received from all states except Utah, Alaska and Hawaii.

How many voters are still undecided, refuse to state a preference, or may switch between now and election day?

On Oct. 22 Goldwater's campaign director, Denison Kitchel, said Republicans are receiving "very encouraging reports" about switching.

Gallup, in an interview with U.S. News & World Report, said in the magazine's Oct. 5 issue he believed "about 80 per cent" of the voters have made up their minds.

Pollsters generally emphasize that their findings are "as of today" and that positions may change by election day.

There is the record for this year — and the stunning results of some other years.

The pollsters did not hit the nail on the head in the GOP presidential primaries in New Hampshire, Oregon and California.

They did not detect the tide of write-in votes that gave the New Hampshire election to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. In Oregon, polls showed Lodge leading, whereas New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller won. In California Rockefeller led in the polls, but Goldwater won in the ballot box.

In both Oregon and California, pollsters did get close to the beam in the 11th-hour reporting. They spoke of shifts toward Rockefeller in Oregon and toward Goldwater in California.

The recent national elections in Britain also confounded the pollsters. The Labor party won by 0.7 per cent.

On election day, Oct. 15, three major polls published their final surveys.

The National Opinion Poll picked Labor by 3 per cent. The Gallup poll saw Labor winning by 3.5 per cent. And the newspaper Daily Express published results of its own survey showing the Conservatives winning by 6.8 per cent.

But these reverse-English results, in both the United States and Britain this year, are minor slips compared to the shockers of 1936 and 1948.

In 1936 the magazine Literary Digest sent out cards asking the preferences of more than 2 million persons. On the basis of replies, the magazine concluded that Gov. Alfred M. Landon would defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt. Instead, there was a Roosevelt landslide.

In 1948 New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appeared to be running so far ahead of President Truman that some pollsters stopped surveying long before election day. The three major polls gave Dewey 49.5, 50.1 and 52.8. They rated Truman at 45.0, 44.5 and 37.5 per cent. Truman won with almost 50 per cent of the total popular vote.

However, in the spectacular, down-to-the-wire 1960 race between the late John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the polls predicted the winner, said it would be a tight

Young Calls Anew for Taft Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young says that before Rep. Robert Taft Jr. raises conflict - of - interest charges against the Democratic administration, he should clarify his own finances first.

Young, who is opposed for reelection to his U.S. Senate seat by the Ohio Republican Congressman-at-large, made the assertion Thursday night in his sixth "position paper" of the campaign.

The Democratic senator, who claims to be the first member of Congress to voluntarily disclose his personal finances, made the conflict-of-interest allegations in regard to Taft and his law firm, Taft, Stettinius & Hollister.

Young said that among the clients of the firm, which he says lists Taft as "counsel," are General Electric, Avco, Ford Motor Co., Emery Industries, Pennsylvania and Norfolk & Western railroads, Trailmobile (a subsidiary of the Pullman Co.), Taft Broadcasting Co., Procter & Gamble, Prudential and Union Life insurance companies and the Kroger Co.

All of these firms, Young said, have a large stake in government activities. Some, he said, seek and receive government contracts while others deal with such administrative bodies as the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Security and Exchange Commission and the Federal Communications Commission.

IS EVERYBODY HAPPY? — If Ted Lewis had asked this familiar question last night as he viewed the parade from the Court & Main platform, he would have gotten an affirmative response from about 50,000 people who jammed the parade route. The famed entertainer, apparently having a good time, would have joined the throngs in answering "yes."
